

Applications invited for Adelaide commercial radio licence

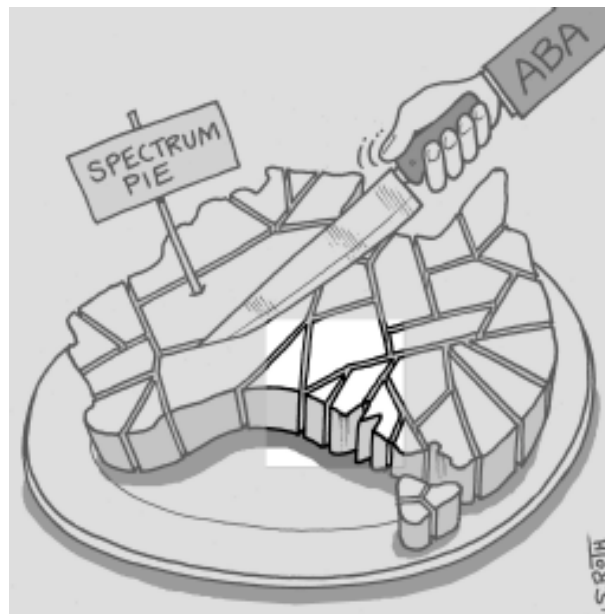

The ABA has invited applications for one new commercial radio broadcasting licence in Adelaide.

The licence is to provide a service on 91.9 MHz with a translator service for t-3 Adelaide Foothills area on 99.1 MHz.

The application period will close at midnight, Friday 26 September 2003.

Companies interested in applying for the licence must purchase an information package titled Price-based Allocation of Commercial Broadcasting Licences from the ABA. The cost of the package is $50 (including of GST).

The information package explains how to apply for a licence, provides technical specifications about the service for which the licence is available and contains copies of the forms to be completed by intending applicants. The package also contains details of the price-based system determined by the ABA, the conditions that apply to commercial broadcasting licences and other information relating to the licence area of the licence being offered for allocation.

If the ABA receives more than one application for the licence it will schedule an auction. It will release the names of registered bidders and their ACN/ABN numbers before the auction.
