

International Training Program

ACMA's 2007 International Training Program, to be held in October, is funded by the International Telecommunication Union. The program provides a regulatory overview of Australia's competitive broadcasting, telecommunications and radiocommunications environment for participants from countries across the region.

The 2007 program is in two modules—the Melbourne module, from 22–26 October, covers the regulation of telecommunications, broadcasting and online content, and the Canberra module, from 29 October–2 November, focuses on spectrum management.

More information is on ACMA's website at www.acma.gov.au/ITP or email international.training@acma.gov.au.
