

Wedding Bells

... for the former Miss Susan King, our hard-working steno/secretary at the offices of the Secretariat. Susan married Ken Rayward of Brunswick Heads, N.S.W., on 30th December 1978. Susan has been on the staff of the secretariat since 24th March 1977, and will now continue employment in this position as Mrs. Susan Rayward until about October, 1979.

NATIONAL EXECUTIVE RESIGNATION

Long time National Executive member and Honorary Secretary to the National Executive, Mr. J. G. Mackay has tendered his resignation as Honorary Secretary and also from the National Executive to take effect from 27th January 1979.

John Mackay's association with the Council extends back to 1962 when he was first appointed Tasmanian State representative on the National Executive. He has served with distinction in many positions within the Council since that date.

As Chief Probation and Parole Officer for the State of Tasmania, he is nowadays very heavily involved within his own professional field of work and which is almost making it physically impossible for him to continue giving so much of his time to A.C.P.C. affairs.

The Management Committee of the Council at its meeting on 27th January 1979 accepted John's resignation with very deep regret. Miss Pat Harris, Deputy Chairman of the Tasmanian Branch of the Council, has been invited by Management Committee to act in the position of Honorary Secretary to the National Executive until biennial election of officer bearers of the Council is held later this year.

FORMATION OF AN INLAND SECURITY GROUP

Circumstances of isolation and distance have created many problems for security businesses in the country areas.

For this reason an association tentatively named the Inland Security Group has been formed. Initially comprising of members operating from commercial premises and having paid staff, the Group's aims are to improve many aspects of the security industry including product knowledge, procedure training, quality control and cost and price analysis.

Members have begun research into and production of security equipment for country applications, where no available product suits. The cross flow of information at quarterly meetings has in many cases enabled Members to improve service and facilities. In a sparsely populated area covering three quarters of the State Members of the Group offer a highly competent service on all types of lock supplies and repairs. Also some Members offer an extensive range of security locks. Supply, intallation, maintenance and monitoring of alarm equipment is one of the most important parts of the business with several monitoring facilities available including one 'A' grade base. Members of the Group also provide service on all other types of security equipment such as closed circuit television, electronic entry devices etc. Group Members service most security equipment at Banks, Councils and Government Departments.
