

Who's reading Platypus?

Prime Minister of Timor-Leste, Xanana Gusmao, soaks up some quiet minutes reading Platypus in an airline lounge during his recent visit to Australia. Prime Minister Gusmao took particular interest in the Operation Comity story that featured in the July 2008 edition of Platypus covering the AFP's response to the attempted assassinations of him and President Dr Jose Ramos-Horta in February this year.

Commissioner Keelty had a chuckle reading the inaugural issue of Platypus at the recent morning tea celebrating 100 editions.

Well-known Australian actor Anthony LaPaglia enjoyed a few minutes scanning Platypus during a time-out from his morning soccer games with Dili youth. Mr LaPaglia was in Timor-Leste recently filming Balibo, a movie covering the deaths of five Australian-based journalists in West Timor in 1978.
