

NEW HOME
for APLA

NSW Attorney-General, Jeff Shaw, making a speech to officially open the new APLA office.

APLA CELEBRATED A NEW STEP IN ITS GROWTH IN DECEMBER

BY JANE STALEY
.....

APLA staff members (L-R): Executive Officer, Jane Staley, Member Services Officer, Adam Flynn, Plaintiff Editor, Joanne Choe and NSW Campaign Officer, Hannah Middleton

(L-R) APLA National President, Peter Cashman, NSW Attorney-General, Jeff Shaw and inaugural National President, Peter Semmler.

WITH THE OFFICIAL OPENING OF NEW PREMISES IN SYDNEY.

APLA NATIONAL EXECUTIVE and NSW Branch Committee members joined staff and invited guests at the new office for a pre-Christmas drink. APLA WAS HONoured to have NSW Attorney General Jeff Shaw QC present to perform the ceremony. In his speech he congratulated APLA on its record of serving the public interest and noted that the Association has grown to be an influential lobby group on law and justice issues. THE MOVE TO the new office was prompted by a growth in operations and staff numbers and the desire to more closely share resources between the National Secretariat and NSW Branch. The new address and phone details appear inside the front cover of this issue of Plaintiff. PL

NSW President, Cathy Henry.