

MAY COURSES

EndNote Training Melbourne and on-demand

Course Dates	6 May 2011
Registrations Close	21 April 2011
Delivery	Face-to-face
Open to	Members, Non-members and Partner Associations
Course Presenter	Jenny Cameron
PD Points	6
Content:	A one day workshop designed to help you to use EndNote and train and support EndNote users more effectively

Web 2.0 Why? What? How? Monitor and Enhance Information Access

Course Dates	16 May – 30 June
Registrations Close	2 May 2011
Delivery	Face-to-face
Open to	Members, Non-members and Partner Associations
Course Presenter	TAFE NSW Sydney Institute
PD Points	30
Content:	With a focus on Web 2.0 – monitor and enhance systems and services, evaluate and deliver new services

TELECONFERENCE

Disaster Preparedness

Course Date	19 May
Registrations Close	12 May
Delivery	Teleconference
Open to	Preference given to ALIA members
Course Presenter	Sue McKerracher
PD Points	1
Content:	Disaster preparedness within the LIS sector with a focus on ALIA Guide to Disaster Planning, Response and Recovery for Libraries

ON DEMAND

Please check the ALIA Training web page for details of a range of on-demand courses that may be arranged for your workplace or area and for the 'anytime' course for individuals Writing to Selection Criteria.

For more course information and to register visit www.alia.org.au/education/pd/pd.services/

ALIA AWARD WINNERS RECOGNISED AT ONLINE

Information Online in Sydney was the venue for the presentation for the latest ALIA Award presentations.

Amongst the recipients, as previously reported in inCite, Andrew Wells was welcomed as the newest Fellow of the Association. This award is given in recognition of an exceptionally high standard of proficiency in library and information science and in recognition of a Andrew's distinguished contribution to the field.

Two Letters of Recognition were also presented in Sydney. The first of these was awarded to Sarah Garnett for her wonderful initiative, the Benjamin Andrew Footpath Library. This out-of-the-ordinary library service provides access to books for Sydney's homeless. Sarah will be a keynote speaker at the ALIA Library Technician's Conference in Perth this September, where she will talk about the creation of this much-loved service.

Rosemary McLauchlan also received a Letter of Recognition and ALIA's gratitude for her involvement in, and dedication to, the Information Online Committee.

Each year, ALIA offers study grants of up to $5000 to enable library professionals to undertake projects that would otherwise be outside their resources. As reported in our December issue, Naomi Doessel received a 2010 Study Grant for her project researching conference mentoring. Naomi was officially presented with her award at the Online event, along with Vivienne Conway, whose research into website accessibility was supported with the 2010 Twila Ann Janssen Her Research Award for Disability Services. This research award encourages early library and information sector practitioners to investigate potential improvements in disability services.

David McInnes
ALIA Groups and Awards
Coordinator
david.mcinnis@alia.org.au

Award winner images from top:

Andrew Wells, Sarah Garnett, Rosemary McLauchlan and Vivienne Conway. (Top three winners pictured with Graham Black, Board President)