AN ACT to further amend "The Launceston Corporation Act, 1894." [12 April, 1923.] A.D. 1923.

WHEREAS it is expedient to further amend "The Launceston Corporation Act, 1894": PREAMBLE.
58 Vic. No. 30.

Be it therefore enacted by His Excellency the Governor of Tasmania, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly, in Parliament assembled, as follows:—

1 This Act may be cited as the "The Launceston Corporation Act Amendment Act, 1923." Short title.

2 Notwithstanding Section Eighteen of "The Launceston Corporation Act, 1894," the Governor may from time to time by proclamation, at the request of the Municipal Council of the City of Launceston, City boundaries, extend or alter the boundaries of the City of Launceston, and thereby include in the said city—

- i. Any land adjoining the said city ; or
- ii. Any land which, although the same does not adjoin the said city, it may be considered advisable to include in the boundaries of the said city—and upon such proclamation the land mentioned therein shall from the time of such proclamation for all purposes be deemed to be within the boundaries of the said city, provided always that no such proclamation shall be made—

- i. Unless the municipal council of the municipality in which such land is and a majority of the owners and a majority of the occupiers of property situated in such land shall notify to the Governor their consent ; or
- ii. Unless Two-thirds of the owners and Two-thirds of the occupiers of property situated in such land shall notify to the Governor their consent.

By any such proclamation the Governor may, at the request of the municipal council of the said city, exclude from the said city any land in the said city, and thereby include the same in another municipality, provided that the municipal council of such other municipality shall notify to the Governor their consent.

The Governor may by such or a subsequent proclamation direct how rates and taxes and charges are to be adjusted for the benefit of the said city and such municipality, and may apportion the same and make such other arrangements with regard to same as shall seem reasonable.
